DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 8/19/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive as to claims 1, 4-5, 7-8, 11, 14-15, 17 and 19.

Referring to claims 1, 4 and 15, the applicant argues that the Ueno reference does not teach or suggest the image recording apparatus (120) stores the compressed image data. The examiner disagrees. It should be noted that the Ueno reference discloses the control circuit (138) for performing compression (reduction) processing in which a size of an image represented by the image data stored in the frame memory (136 as the first memory unit) is compressed to one-eighth, and the compressed imaged data (pre-shot image data) is output to the SCSI bus (154) (See Col. 17, lines 51-60). As shown in Figure 10, it clears show the compressed image data can be directly stored in image recording apparatus (120 as the secondary memory unit) from control circuit (138) via SCSI bus (154) or transferred to processing apparatus (114) for additional signal processing before recording the compressed image data to the recording apparatus (120) (See Col. 19, lines 1-20).

Claim Objections

2. Claim 14 is objected to because of the following informalities:

The claim 14 is dependent on the claim 13 which is currently cancelled. Due to the insufficient information, the claim 14 has not been further treated on the merits.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- Claims 1, 4-5, 7-8, 11, 15, 17 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ueno et al. U.S. Patent 5,625,415 in view Mrejen, Jean-Jacques FR Published Application 2674036 (Hereinafter referred to as Mrejen).

Referring to claim 1, The Ueno reference discloses in Figures 14-15 and 18, a digital still camera comprises a display screen (1302) for displaying an image corresponding to a subject and a mark (1500) representing the focus position; the mark (1500) displayed in the preview picture area (1302) is moved to a target position by a focal point select apparatus (input apparatus 118 in Figure 10), focus control means(control circuit 138) for controlling to focus on a position of the subject corresponding to said mark (See Col. 27, lines 5-15); the control circuit (138) for performing compression (reduction) processing in which a size of an image represented by the image data stored in the frame memory (136 as the first memory unit) is compressed to one-eighth; and the compressed imaged data (pre-shot image data) is output to the SCSI bus (154) (See Col. 17, lines 51-60). As shown in Figure 10, it clears show the compressed image data can be directly stored in image recording apparatus (120 as the secondary memory unit) from control circuit (138) via SCSI bus (154) or transferred to processing apparatus (114) for additional signal processing before recording the compressed image data to the recording apparatus (120) (See Col. 19, lines 1-20). However, Ueno does not explicitly state the focal point select apparatus includes a touch screen for moving the mark.

The Mrejen reference discloses in Figures 1-4, a process to control the focusing of a photography device, such as a camera, a movie camera (See Page 2, lines 1-6); the image received and analyzed by CCD sensors (See page 3, lines 5-7 and page 23, lines 13-17); the signals thus received are amplified, the image received is displayed on a flat LCD touch screen (2) (See page 12, lines 10-15); the touch screen for moving the mark (the sharpness zone including test chart 11, frame 12, or a combination of both as shown in Figure 3a); the mark is thus chosen is taken into account for the automatic control of the focusing (See Page 14, lines 4-7). The Mrejen reference also states the touch screen could also be replaced, for example by a control handle, of joystick, which enables moving the mark (sharpness zone) on the surface of the image displayed on screen (See Page 14, lines 21-24). The Mrejen reference is an evidence that one of ordinary skill in the art at the time to see more advantages for using touch screen to move the mark which corresponding the focus on a position of the subject, because the operation can be performed easily and the cost can be reduced (See page 25, and lines 15-16 sets forth the motivation to provides a very accurate system, which can be used with many focal distances, and with high sensitivity). For that reason, it would have been obvious to include touch screen function for moving the mark representing the focus position in the input apparatus 118 disclosed by Ueno.

Referring to claim 4, the Ueno reference discloses wherein said focus control means further calculates the focus position by processing image data corresponding to the mark moved in order to focus the position of subject corresponding to the mark (See Figure 18, steps 1904-1906, Col. 27, lines 1-15).

Referring to claim 5, the Ueno and Mrejen references disclose all subject matter as discussed with respect to same comments as with claim 1.

Referring to claim 7, the Ueno reference discloses wherein said display means comprises a display screen that shows the image and the mark (See Figures 14-15).

Referring to claim 8, the Mrejen reference discloses wherein touch screen (2) is established on a camera body as shown in Figure 1.

Referring to claim 11, the Ueno and Mrejen references disclose all subject matter as discussed with respect to same comments as with 4.

Referring to claim 15, the Ueno and Mrejen references disclose all subject matter as discussed with respect to same comments as with claim 1.

Referring to claim 17, the Ueno reference discloses calculating said focus position by processing image data corresponding to said relocated focus position as shown in Figure 15.

Referring to claim 19, the Ueno reference discloses generating an address of a memory (120) storing image data (pre-shooting image data) corresponding to a coordinates of focus position (1500); reading image data stored in said address, and calculating the focus position by processing said read image data as shown in Figure 18, steps 1906-1910 (See Col. 27, lines 1-15).
